Schiller Is VP

Milton Schiller has been named one of five vice presidents of the Texas State Technical Institute. Schiller will be in charge of the Rio Grande Campus of TSTI in Harlingen. He will be headquartered in the executive office building on the Connally Tech campus in Waco.

Milton Schiller

The appointment is one of several being announced following the act by the 61st Texas legislature changing James Connally Technical Institute to the Texas State Technical Institute.

The former state representative and Cameron businessman joined the faculty of Connally Tech in January, 1959, and has served as technical manpower research assistant.

Prior to September 1 of this year, the state's only bilingual technical institute in Harlingen has been known as the James Connally Technical Institute Mobile Laboratory.

Officials for the Institute were appointed by the Board of Regents at its first meeting on Monday.

J. H. Kultgen, Waco businessman, was elected chairman of the board and Dr. Roy Dugger was appointed president.

John W. Nighazoo of Hearne was named vice chairman.

POTLINE 8 WILL DRAW 100 WORKERS

Alcoa's Rockdale Works will be the largest primary aluminum producer in the nation when production starts on its eighth potline in December.

The future capacity of 275,000 tons per year will surpass the 260,000-ton capacity of Alcoa's nearest competitor plant, Rockdale Works presently employs 1495 workers from 55 communities in the Milam area.

Employment increased by almost 150 people this year, but the aluminum smelting plant will need another 100 new employees before it begins operating the new potline, according to Works Manager H. F. Christo.

Since its initial construction began in 1961, Rockdale Works has been growing. The first aluminum was produced in 1962 from the first of four potlines. In 1966 the plant was expanded to six potlines.

A facility capable of producing authorized aluminum (powder) was built in 1966 and a year later construction began on a seventh potline. More growth was recorded in 1968 with the completion of a Properly casting unit to produce redwax rod which goes primarily to the company's new cable mill at Marshall for further fabrication into electrical conductor.

Several raw materials are essential in the smelting process.

Aluminum produced commercially is obtained from an ore called bauxite. Alcoa obtains bauxite from Suriname (South America), Dominican Republic, Jamaica, and Arkansas.

Impurities in the bauxite are removed by a chemical refining process to obtain alumina—a white, granular powder. This material is shipped to Rockdale by rail from Alcoa's Point Comfort Operations near Port Lavaca. Approximately two pounds of alumina are required to produce one pound of aluminum.

Hans Beacham, formerly of Cameron, has published a book, "The Architecture of Mexico: Yesterday and Today," Architectural Book Publishing Co., New York, 254 pages.

The Herald will review the Book Publishing Co., New York City press reviews for its unity and authority in capturing unique aspects of Mexican architecture.

Beacham, now a resident of Mexico D. F., has been published in TIME, The London Times and other noted English-language periodicals. His effort to comprehend Mexican architecture from the pre-Hispanic Indian cultures to the moderns is brilliant.

He is quite a photographer. The text is as apt as the pictures, which detail inter-relationships of at least three cultures, dating from 950 B. C.

We trust anyone interested in buildings will find this an important pictorial study.

Our first experience with Mexican architects was in Dallas in 1956. Felix Candella, imaginative Mexican City architect who designed what is known as the "hyperbolic paraboloid," introduced this umbrella-like concrete structure which supported walls and ceilings in Great Southwest Corp. structures, including part of Six Flags Over Texas.

This concept was presented to newspapermen from across the Fort Worth-Dallas complex before any such Six Flags or Great Southwest industrial complex, now apparent along the Fort Worth-Dallas Freeway, were built.

Some of his work is pictured in Beacham's book. And modern Mexican architecture is quite ahead of most of the new construction in this country.

Subject to contradiction, we are impressed that American construction is only now capturing the possibilities in concrete which Mexican and South American architects have employed for a generation. Scarcity of stone and modern metals south of our border probably encouraged the use of concrete.

Candella, indeed, and others at least as qualified, are turning Mexico City and smaller cities into modern monuments to concrete geometry and glass schemata, incorporating, as Beacham shows, the elements of antique and antiquation.

110-110-110

With the modern elements of plastic and aluminum, certainly that being produced in great quantity in Milam County's expanding Rockdale Works, and concrete, this country will ultimately resolve soaring construction costs with new emphasis and new design, suggested by pictures from Beacham's new book.

Rosebud Seeks 1st Win . . .

Yoe Awaits Panthers, 0-2

The Yoemen (1-1) 8 p.m. Friday will host neighbors—the North Rosebud (0-2) at Yoe Field.

Minor illness sidelined varsity linemen Dale Schiut and A. J. Hurtik early in the week, but Coach Hal Stanislaw indicated the players would probably be in the starting lineup Friday night.

He said several members of the 29-man junior varsity had been affected by a similar flu bug.

Cameron is suiting up about 20 boys for each of the varsity and junior varsity teams, Stanislaw said.

Though Rosebud has failed to score against either Marlin or Groesbeck, the Panthers are historic rivals of the Yoemen and are capable of powerful performance here, Stanislaw said.

Luther Alexander and Jack Turner, two of Rosebud's top backs, were out of the Groesbeck game last week, won by the Goats, 9-0. He said Turner, an 180-pound full back, gained about 1,000 yards rushing last year.

He noted Rosebud also is returning with quarterback Raymon Puentes, a center Stanislaw thought was an honorable-mention All-Stater in One-A last year.

Saturday Last Day For Banking Hours

Banks in Cameron, Buckholts, and Rockdale will be open for their last Saturday banking hours on September 27.

Effective October 1, the banks will stay open three hours longer on Fridays and will be closed on Saturdays. Banking hours will be from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Fridays and from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. as usual on Mondays through Thursdays.

Closing of banks on Saturdays follows a trend by city, county, and state offices which are open only five days a week.

Marlin defeated Rosebud in their season opener, 19-0, two weeks ago.

Stanislaw was running two sets of backs against reserve linemen at mid-week. Emanuel Thomas missed practice Tuesday, was expected to be back in the starting lineup by gametime Friday.

Cameron is running a split-T and I combination of plays, breaking Thomas through wide holes for 5 to 10 yards repeatedly against Rockdale.

The "Victory Bell," won from Rockdale for the first time since 1966, is on display in the main hallway at Yoe High School.

The Cam ron starting lineup will find: Darilek LE, Ron Richardson at LT, Schiut at LG, Bailey at C, Mayer at RG, James Mueck at RT and Marlin Mueck at RE.

Backs will be: Brashear at QB, Thomas at TB, Laury at WB and Steamer at FB.

Yoemen defensive starters will be: Bailey and M. Mueck at ends, Mayer and Knight at tackles, Ron Richardson and Hurtik at guards, Trabee and Whitely at linebackers, Laury and McLellan at halfbacks and Jerry Richardson at safety.

Probably Rosebud are: Cornelius Knox and Benny Lilly at ends, Cecil Sitt and Steve Lurgay at tackles, Tim Kirksey and Mark Olbrich at guards, Larry Zabick at center, Raymon Buente at quarterback, Luther Alexander at halfback, Jackie Turner at fullback, Craig Houpt or Lindbergh Johnson at wingback.

Drivers on paved streets with unmarked intersections must yield to the vehicle on the right or the vehicle that is approaching from the right "so close as to constitute a hazard."

Minor injuries were sustained by Tomas Vega of Cameron about 5:30 Tuesday afternoon when his car collided with another car at the intersection of Sixth and North Houston.

Vega's car, traveling east on Sixth, collided with a car driven by Melvin Weems of Cameron. Vega was taken to a local hospital where he was treated and released.

Sgt. Felipe Martinez investigated the accident. Weems was ticketed for failing to yield right of way.

"This past year the local Red Cross office has had 280 inquiries pertaining to service connected men," Maxwell said, "20 inquiries

Maxwell said there were over 200 lay volunteers, 8 doctors and 12 nurses that help at the eleven blood drawings held in Milam County during the year.

Cost of the vital blood program to the county Red Cross unit is 8 cents per capita, based on the 1960 census. This amounts to $1,730.84. From July 1, 1963 to June 30, 1969 Milam County hospitals used 748 pints of blood as follows:

Newton Memorial Hospital, 73 pints;

St. Edwards Hospital, 68 pints;

Richards Hospital, 272 pints.

Nonregional hospitals treating county patients, 350 pints.

The local United Fund board of directors have allocated $2,430 for the Red Cross, providing their drive for $3,300, is successful. Kickoff for the drive is October 7 with workers contacting businesses October 8 through 10 and homes October 13 through 17.

Red Cross is only one of six agencies that will benefit from the United Drive. Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, U.S.O. and the Teen Club all draw support from the one drive.

Dana Kestenbaum, United Fund Drive chairman, said, "All of us who remember when each of these groups had an individual, house-to-house and business-to-business drive, know how important it is to make the United Fund '69 drives in 1' a success."

BIG, POPULAR PLYMOUTH — All 1970 Plymouth Fury models offer substantial styling improvements and a high degree of luxury. Major styling changes are at front and rear, with full loop bumpers encircling the grille and taillamps. Two new top-of-the-line models are the Sport Fury GT, a standard-size performance car with 440-cubic-inch V-8 engine, and the sporty S-23. Pictured is the Fury III four-door hardtop.

New, Models, Styling For '70 Plymouth Fury

Substantial improvements in styling and the addition of two new top-of-the-line models are features of the 1970 Plymouth Fury line, which goes on sale September 23.

The Fury line has been restyled front and rear to give all models a more massive appearance. There are full loop bumpers which encircle the new horizontally designed grille and the taillamps.

The new models are in the Fury series: the sporty S-23 and the GT, which adds a high performance model to Plymouth's standard-size line.

"We've spared no effort in creating the 1970 Fury," Glenn E. White, Chrysler-Plymouth general manager, said. "The car is an exceptional value, and we are very optimistic about its potential for the new model year."

"The front and rear styling changes greatly enhance the inherent strengths of the aerodynamic body styling theme," he said. "Fury for 1970 offers a long, wide, lean freshness and boldness in the true big car context."

The Fury is 214.9 inches long overall, up four-tenths of an inch from last year. Its wheelbase remains at 120 inches. A new wider rear track of 62 inches complements the integrated loop bumper rear styling.

The Fury interior features the highest style level and more trim options than ever before available. SPORT FURY

The Sport Fury series is expanded to include four-door sedans and hardtops in addition to the two-door hardtops.

The exterior ornamentation and the interior trim and appointments achieve a readily discernible differentiation for the Sport Fury from the Fury I, Fury II, and high volume Fury III lines.

Four body styles are available in the Sport Fury series — two-door hardtop, two-door formal hardtop, four-door sedan, and four-door hardtop.

The Sport Fury features concealed headlights and a special grille, premium tail lamps, and a vinyl rub strip on the body side. The interior is luxurious and offers such standard features as premium door trim panels with carpeting, wood grain, and puff padding highlights, and a contour back bench seat with center arm rest in choice of all-vinyl or cloth and vinyl.

The new Sport Fury S-23 model offers sporty exterior features such as a new "strobe" stripe design available in three colors of reflective tape, a hood form stripe and rallye wheels.

For the performance-oriented buyer, the new Sport Fury GT brings high performance into a full size road car. The GT includes similar exterior treatment as the S-23, however, its emphasis is primarily on performance equipment and increased identity with exhaust tips and H70 x 15 wide lettered tires.

POWERFUL ENGINE

The standard engine is the powerful 440-cubic-inch four-barrel, rated at 350 horsepower. In addition, a new high output 440-cubic-inch, six-barrel engine rated at 390 horsepower is optional.

All Sport Fury GT's have a heavy duty suspension pkg. free flo exhaust systems with four exhaust tips, and high performance H70 x 15 wide tread fiberglass belted tires with raised white side letters.

The optional Brougham package makes Sport Fury one of the luxury leaders in its class. The Brougham four-door has a 59.50 split bench front seat with two individual arm rests, individual adjustment of passenger and driver's seats with a recliner on the passenger seat.

The two-door carries individual Brougham buckets with a combination fixed center seat and fold-in arm rest.

Road noise in all Furies is reduced by the addition of silencing barriers in the rear pillar, shelf and seat areas.

Maxwell To Attend Brownwood Retreat

Approximately 200 men from throughout the state are expected to attend the 19th annual Christian Men's Fellowship Retreat of The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) at Brownwood on September 26-28.

H. D. Maxwell of Rockdale will be among devotional leaders during the retreat. He served as president of Texas CMF during 1966-67.

Principal speakers will be Miss Helen F. Spaulding of Indianapolis, Ind., executive secretary of the Christian Women's Fellowship Department of the Disciples' United Christian Missionary Society, and Dr. George R. Davis, minister of National City Christian Church in Washington, D. C.

The retreat will open Friday night and continue through noon Sunday at Lake Brownwood Christian Retreat.

Telephone Rates Going Up For Rogers Customers In November

Local service telephone rates will increase for Rogers customers, reports Robert Reeves, District Manager for Texas Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The raise will be effective on November 11, 1969, which coincides with the November telephone bill date.

Generally, the increase will amount to $3 monthly for business lines and $1.50 monthly for residence lines. In addition, charges for extension telephones will go up $5.00 for business customers and $2.50 for residence customers.

"At the same time," Reeves said, "we will be removing the $2.50 monthly charge for color telephones. From then on, customers served by the Rogers exchange may choose any color of telephone they desire at no additional charge."

Black will no longer be the standard offering.

The adjustment in rates has been brought about by many factors, Reeves said. Chief among these has been the increase in costs of both material and labor. Another reason has been the increased cost of money.

By the end of the year, Texas Telephone will have invested over $1,000 in new cable and other facilities in and around Rogers. "We have to pay interest on this money as it must be borrowed," Reeves said, "and interest rates throughout the nation are at an all time high."

The money has been spent primarily in rebuilding lines and cables throughout Rogers. As a result, one-party, private line service will soon be available to anyone in the city who wants it.

Most rural customers will have their telephone service upgraded as well. Wherever possible, no more than four parties will be assigned to a rural line.

Over half of the new cable has been buried underground instead of strung on poles. Reeves explained that this procedure will provide more reliable telephone service and at the same time help to beautify the city.

The last increase in telephone rates for Rogers was made in 1958.

Buick Skylark, GS Have New Styling

FLINT, Mich. — Buick Motor Division's new line of cars for 1970 features completely new styling in the intermediate Skylark and GS series, a new upper series station wagon and a new and bigger engine, plus numerous mechanical changes to provide better performance and serviceability.

While much of the styling emphasis for 1970 was placed on the intermediate-sized cars, Riviera, Electra, Wildcat and LeSabre models have undergone significant appearance changes with the introduction of new grilles, bumpers and ornamentation.

"In addition to styling and engineering changes, we have made important strides in simplifying the serviceability of 1970 models," said Lee N. Mays, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors.

"The serviceability of instrument panel components has been increased by as much as 50 percent with such innovations as snap-on speedometer cable connections, air conditioning outlet hoses which can be disconnected quickly and a steering column designed to reduce the time required to replace directional signal switches."

The dramatic new styling of the Skylark and GS models features a lengthened hood with a shortened rear deck, combined with subtle, horizontal body accent lines flowing rearward from the wheel openings.

Front end treatment consists of a distinctive grille for each series and the shortened rear deck is complemented by a new, more massive bumper tailored to the flared fender lines that extend into the roof.

All models in the intermediate line will have side impact bars in the doors and rear quarter panels. This safety feature was introduced last year on LeSabre, Wildcat and Electra models.

The intermediate line consists of eight Skylark models in three series — Skylark, Skylark 350 and Skylark Custom.

For the first time in many years,
Buick, in 1970 offers a luxury
Estate Wagon in its upper series lineup. The new wagon, which is available with either two or three seats, is mounted on a 124-inch wheelbase and is powered by the new 455 cubic inch engine.

ELECTRA
New front and rear end treatment creates a distinctive look for the luxury Electra series, which has shown the most remarkable growth of any car in the Buick line over the past several years.

A new hood and bumper blend smoothly with the new grille and headlamps which are spaced wider apart to enhance the 1970 styling.

In the rear, back-up lamps, which glow red at night when the lights are on, are mounted vertically in the fenders, adding a unique styling feature.

The Riviera, which is Buick's popular offering in the personal luxury car field, has undergone evolutionary styling refinements which further enhance its appeal.
A longer hood profile is combined with a stylish grille which is of a vertical line design.

The new 455 cubic inch engine replaces the 430 cubic inch power plant in the Riviera, Electra, Wildcat, Estate Wagon models and is available on some LeSabre models.

Peak torque has been increased to 310 pounds feet in this new power plant which generates 370 horsepower and greatly improves performance.

Civic Garden Club Coffee Celebrates 'First 20 Years'

"The First 20 Years" a garden club was observed by the Civic Garden Club when the group met for a coffee on last Thursday at the home of Mrs. John Sapp with Mrs. W. E. Falkner as co-hostess. Special guests were past presidents who are not presently members of the club, Mrs. J. D. Moore, Mrs. Edwin Adams, Mrs. Joe J. Heitman and Mrs. M. C. Duncum and Mrs. Willie Mai Raymond. Past presidents, active, were Mrs. Leo Fuchs, Mrs. R. G. Graben, Mrs. Alvin Dusek and Mrs. J. A. Bowling.

Mrs. Moore organized the club in 1949 and lead it to be federated with Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. in 1950. She spoke to the club reviewing the requirements which had to be met to be a standard club and named Mrs. Arthur Collier and Mrs. A. E. Buckley, Temple, who were present for the organizational meeting which was held at the Court House. Other past presidents spoke briefly and mentioned outstanding achievements during their tenure of office. Mrs. Leo Fuchs has the distinction of having served the club the most years, five, in three different terms, as president.

From the presidents' messages, it was noted, that the club could be classified as a "hard working group". Much emphasis was placed on study, particularly in the categories, Flower Arranging and Horticulture. During these 20 years the club has staged a flower show each garden club year. The first show was held in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce Christmas mas parade a fives and was attended by more than 100 persons.

Seven trees add beauty to the areas at Ben Milam School and the Cameron Public Library, planted by the club in observance of Arbor Day.

It was noted also that Civic Garden Club has contributed much toward the garden club movement outside of its own realm, the zone, district, state, and nationally. They have been hostess group for a Zone meeting (formerly called division), a District V meeting (one of the largest ever held and co-sponsored by Fleur-de-lis Club), and on November 19 both clubs will again host the Zone 2 meeting in Cameron.

Civic Garden Club has sponsored the organization of two clubs in District V, the Fleur-de-lis club in Cameron and the Johnson City Garden Club of which Mrs. London B. Johnson is an honorary member.

Study produced four nationally accredited, working, flower show judges, Mrs. R. G. Graben, Mrs. Alvin Dusek, Mrs. Frank Schiller, Mrs. Leo Fuchs and further lead to Mrs. Fuchs achieving the highest goal, a Master Judge and Mrs. Graben and Mrs. Dusek each hold Life Certificates. Mrs. W. R. Newton, Sr. completed all of the courses but was unable to qualify for a certificate due to loss of past records. Mrs. W. E. Falkner and Mrs. Sam B. Houston have completed three courses in the flower show schools, are now classified as Student Judges and will take School 4 in Waco the latter part of this month.

In the service category, the club has provided a governor for the district, a treasurer and a third vice-president for the state organization presently a state treasurer, Landscape Critics Council, and a president for Central Texas Nationally Accredited Judges Council in Mrs. Leo Fuchs. Numerous chairmanships have been held by various members and Mrs. Fuchs is presently serving as state membership chairman.

The club cooperated 100 percent in buying bricks, $1.00 per brick member, for the national headquarters building in St. Louis, and likewise a few years later the beautiful Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. headquarters in the Botanical Garden in Fort Worth, and this year won a presidential citation (state) for contributions beyond expectation, to help landscape the grounds of the governor's mansion in Austin.

Civic Garden Club members this year made dozens of felt red birds which were used with gilded johnson grass for table decorations when District V was hostess for one of the luncheons for the national convention held in Dallas last Spring.

Questions

QUESTION: What do you think about the rising cost of living and what can be done about it?

ALEX McCORD, leather shop owner: "Labor is one reason the cost of everything is going up. The unions ask more and more and every time they strike they get almost whatever they ask. Then the manufacturer tacks it on to the cost of the product he makes and it passes on down the line."

ED GRAHAM, retired farmer: "Wars keep the cost of living high. Every war I've ever known of has made the cost of everything leap. But farmers really suffer in the depression times. It's better to pay 50 cents for a hamburger than not have a nickel for one at all in a depression."

MRS. STANLEY VACULIN, retail store employee: "I do not know what can be done, but everytime you go to the store prices have gone up a penny or two on everything. We even see that in the cost of merchandise we get in the store. I think we feel the cost rise more in small towns. In cities wages go up with costs. People here seem to be watching their money more and comparing prices more."

POTLINE-

3,000 ton hydraulic press at the plant. These carbon blocks are used for anodes which conduct electric current into a solution of alumina and cryolite. Approximately two-thirds of a pound of carbon is consumed for each pound of aluminum produced.

SMELTING PROCESS
The smelting process used at Rockdale is basically the same as that discovered by Charles Martin Hall almost 80 years ago. The entire operation is based on the fact that alumina (the oxide of aluminum), when dissolved in molten cryolite can be decomposed by electric current. This is accomplished in long rows of electrolytic cells, or "pots," as they are commonly called.

Current is led into the carbon-lined steel cells through carbon anodes that are partially immersed in the molten bath and connected by copper rods to the bus bar system above the cell. The carbon lining serves as a conductor by which the current is carried out of the cell to the next "pot." In the operation of the electrolytic cell, cryolite-sodium aluminum fluoride is first introduced into the cell. After it has been melted or fused, alumina is added. As the current passes through the bath, the alumina, dissolved in the cryolite, is separated into aluminum and oxygen. The oxygen, liberated at the anode, combines with the carbon to form carbon dioxide gas and escapes through the crust of the bath. Aluminum is deposited on the bottom of the pots and is siphoned out periodically.

The molten metal is then transported in crucibles to the ingot department where it is cast into numerous shapes and sizes of ingot, rolled into 3-inch redraw rod for drawing into utility cable, or taken to the atomizer facility to become powdered aluminum.

"Today, Texas ranks among the top aluminum producing states," said Chrisco. "Wherever you go in Texas you'll find aluminum doing jobs for homemakers, farmers, ranchers and manufacturers—and in many places like Rockdale, you'll find it giving jobs to Texans."

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By Vern Sanford

Who says fishing is not fun in the wintertime? Man, there are angling opportunities galore during the winter months in Texas.

In fact, if you want "quality" fishing it awaits you most everywhere in the Longhorn State — in the cold, cold weather when the whites are hitting.

Ever go after white bass? Best time of the year is the cold-month period. And they hit live bait, dead bait, artificial lures — almost anything you toss out among the lively schooling whites.

And it's a hell catching them! They're scrappy, energetic creatures. Good eating too!

Thrill of white bass fishing is the tremendous action. They are hit-and-run fighters — the whole school of them seem to battle for the bait. Taking 20 or 40 whites from one darting school is not uncommon. We've heard of as many as 140 catches in one day's haul.

Don't decry the hogishness of such an angler. 'Tis said that you could take all the whites out of an impoundment the size of Lake Travis — but 20 — and in one season the entire stock would be replenished. Don't know whether this is true or not, but I understand from biologists that the white bass do reproduce by the thousands.

White bass fishing in the wintertime is done — in quantity — by following the gulls. When you locate these circling birds you know you've hit the jackpot. Right below those "spotters" you'll find a school of darting, dashing shad. And right below the shad you'll find whites.

Probably your best lure in a silver spoon, like the Dixie, or a Mr. Champ, or a slab.

Make your cast beside the school — on the edge of the activity — not in the middle of it.

Heavier the lure the deeper and faster it sinks — and the larger the fish you'll catch. Reason for this is the big ones stay below and gobble up the injured shad as these cripples sink to the bottom.

Occasionally you'll find a lazy ole lunker black bass on your hook — providing your lure goes deep enough. Most likely he will be right on the very bottom eating only what food comes his way. He's lazy, but foxy, and a fighter too, with lots of objection to being netted.

Fishing for whites is equally successful, if not more so, in the tailraces below a dam — when the whites go upstream to spawn. And that's in cold-weather too — oftentimes in the deep of winter — on the very coldest days — when the ice freezes in the guides of your fishing rod — and the angler's veins turn purple.

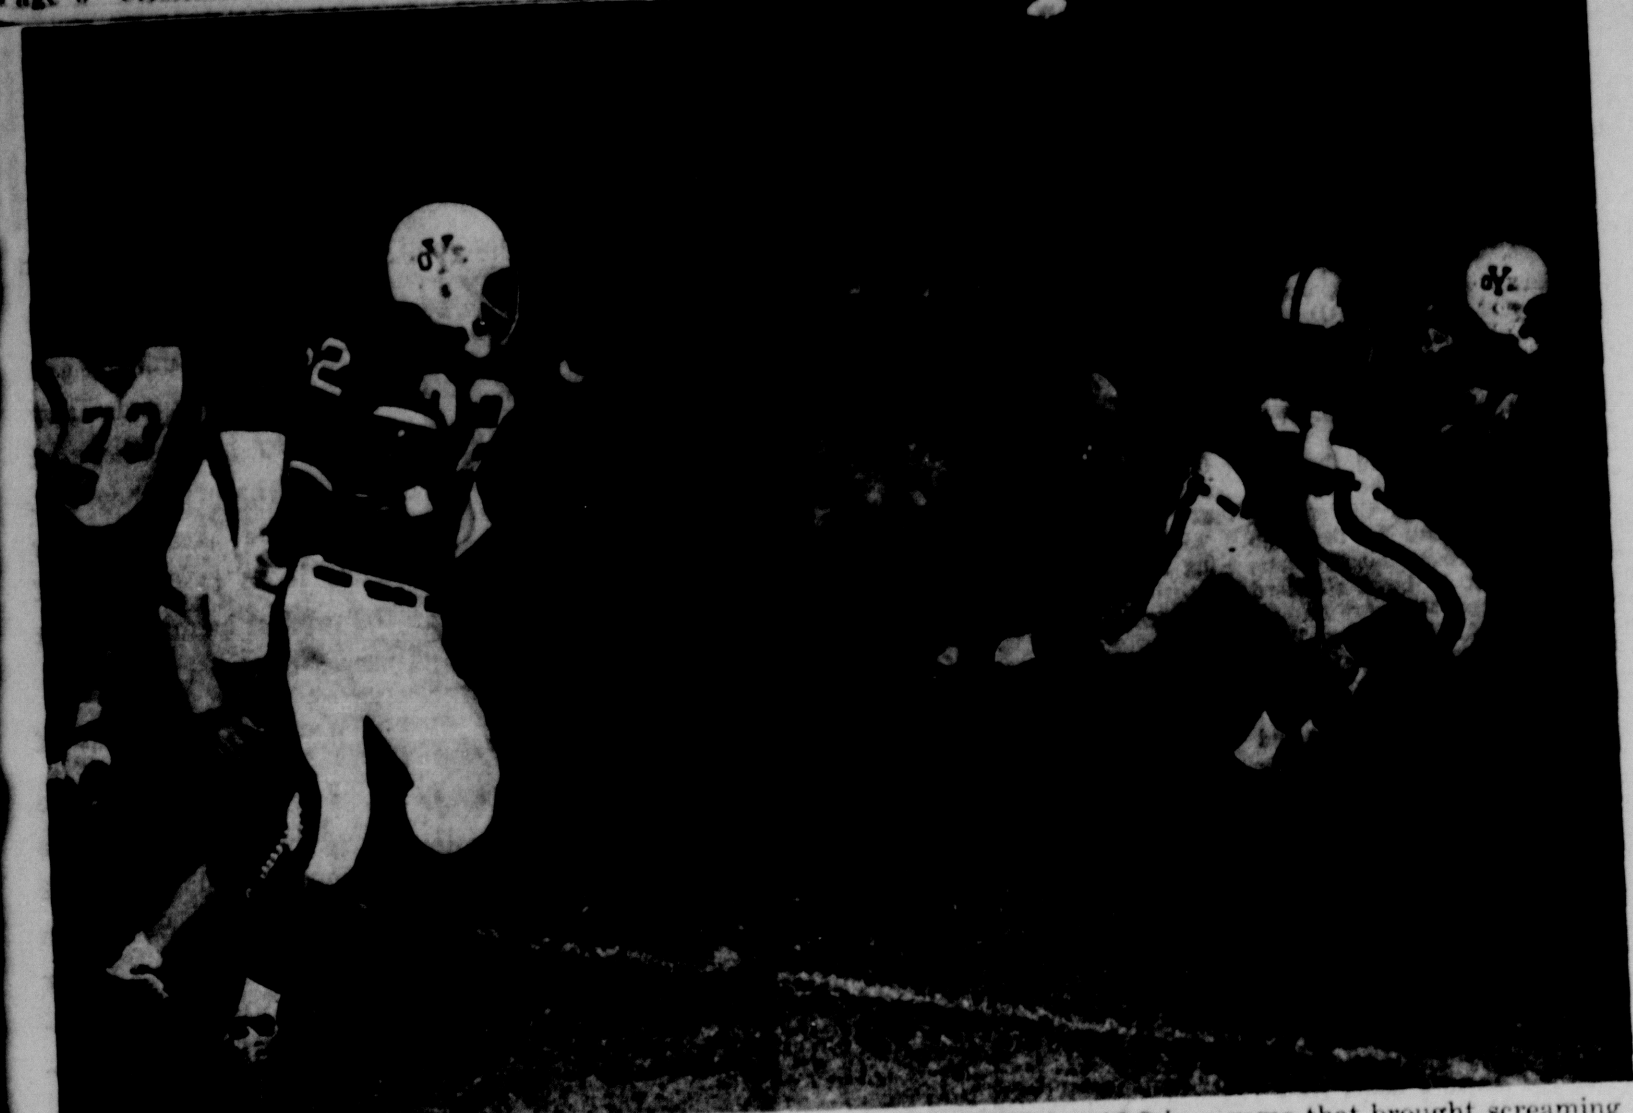

But it's fun . . . and when you're catching fish you don't notice the weather . . . be it steamy hot or freezing cold.

THE OSBORNE BROTHERS, stars of Grand Ole Opry will be on stage at Milano High School Thursday (tonight) at 8 p.m. Proceeds from the show will

NUMBER 22, Yoeman James Laury clutches the pigskin during an exciting moment in the Friday Cameron-Rockdale tilt on Yoe Field. The Yoemen downed the

Steamer, Thomas Ring Bell For Yoe

If the Yoemen led three quarters and lost at Taylor, they played a sensational fourth quarter here against Rockdale Friday night and won, 16-9.

The Milan "Victory Bell" returned to Cameron possession for the first time since 1965.

Fullback John Steamer took a kick-off at the Yoe 14, turned to his south sideline behind a wall of blockers and sprinted the 86 yards to break over the game.

Robert Brashear, Cameron's diminutive quarterback, tossed a two-pointer to halfback James Laury. And the score was finalized at 16-9.

The fourth quarter was the ball game in scoring. Cameron hammered loose the Rockdale line for three quarters, only to fizzle three times within the Tiger 10 yard-line.

HALFBACKS SLASH

Halfbacks Emanuel Thomas and Laury slashed between tackles for heavy yardage throughout the game while Steamer hammered over first downs when short yardage was needed.

But the right combination would not materialize at the Tiger goal-line. And Cameron elected to go for a touchdown each time rather than for a field goal which Rockdale kicked one time, leading 3-0 for most of the game.

Thomas seemed to break the spell from 31 yards out in the third quarter, but his dash to TD was nullified by a Cameron holding penalty. Rockdale continued to lead 3-0.

That 3 pointer came off the toe of tackle Priestly Tindall in mid-point of the first quarter. The Tigers drove to the Yoe 11, where the Yoeman forward wall stopped three charges, followed by Tindall's 3 point boot from the Yoe 23.

Rockdale tailback Sam Williams worried the Yoe line for 72 yards during the evening while Cameron's Thomas sprinted through Tiger forwards for 156 yards in 21 assignments, excluding callback of one TD sprint of 31 yards.

Steamer hammered out 65 yards before his game breaker sprint in the fourth quarter kickoff return. Minutes before, Cameron and Rockdale traded touchdowns which changed scoring leading from Rockdale by 3-0 to Cameron 8-3 and Rockdale again 9-8.

Rockdale's lone TD came early in the fourth quarter when the Tigers' Williams went into the end zone from the 2 for a TD, but stopped short of the goal on a 2-point extra attempt.

Key play in the Tigers' TD drive came on a 41-yard pass from quarterback Larry Keelin to Williams. The tie halfback was dragged down after running the pass down the middle of the Yoe secondary.

With less than 10 minutes remaining, the Tigers led 9-3. That is when Steamer rolled and the Victory Bell began to ring for the Yoemen.

Brashear ran out the clock in the last minutes when the Yoemen got final possession.

STALLED TWICE

Twice in the first half, Thomas, Laury and Steamer took the Yoemen within the Tiger 10, only to try a stern defense with repeated dives into the line.

Rockdale received the kickoff after the half giving up possession on a Larry Keelin pass intercepted by Yoeman Marvin Young at the 28.

Cameron broke Thomas on a 31-yard TD within a few plays, but the score was nullified.

Again, Rockdale was held on three plays and forced to kick, this time short to the Tiger 35. Thomas hit paydirt within five plays from 19 yards out.

Young took a Brashear pass for 2 extra points and the Yoemen went ahead, 8-3.

The rest you know. Late in the fourth quarter, officials ejected a Cameron and a Rockdale lineman, tackle Ronnie Richardson and Alanzo Beckdale's players led each team's renewed defensive lineup.

Yoe Stadium rocked the entire fourth quarter and rang a bit when the "Victory Bell" was rolled by hundreds of students down the middle of the field.

DOORS OF YOE

By Jane Callaway

SWEET MUSIC! SWEET MUSIC! Yoe High halls filled with BELL Tones! It is just great for the "Bell" to be back in our school—it has been away too long. Our team was really something last Friday night—Emanuel Thomas, Marvin Young, Robert Brashear, James Laury, and our linemen on both offense and defense—they made it all possible. How about Johnny Steamer's 86 yard run!

We are sorry that Bill Perrin's knee is still giving him trouble. Hope you don't have to get back on crutches, Bill, and your knee is well in a hurry.

Everything last Friday was good. Our pep rally had some SPIRIT—it was one of our best. Thanks to the cheerleaders—Brenda Watkins, Renee Cummings, Paula Folschinsky, Gail Jeter, Denise Botts, and Rhonda Hardwick, and the band and twirlers. All of that enthusiasm and to help the team—so let's keep it like that the rest of the year.

Last Thursday, I'm sure Mrs. Miller thought the school budget would have to be raised. One teacher, Carolyn and I, were sure we had a bad stencil—after typing several more, we watched someone casually pick up the first one and begin running off copies. Say, what was wrong with that first one, Miss Rosson?

Congratulations to Monty Humble. He has been named a semifinalist in the 1969-70 National Merit Scholarship program. Good luck in the finals, Monty.

The alternates Senior Band members will be selling Cameron Yoemen license plates again this Friday night at the game. Buy one and support your school! So you already have one—buy another and you can have one on the front and one on the back of your car.

Have you noticed that Rebecca G. is always laughing?

The annuals arrived Monday—looks good to me Marilyn and Patricia. We will be busy now getting everyone to sign them and friends will fill the pages with bits of memories and a little philosophy for us to remember, Fun!!

The third period librarians elected Rebecca A. "Star of Hee-Haw!!" How about that Mrs. McDermott?

Class pictures for this year's annual were made this week—but the best pictures will have to be the "candid" that John Ben is snapping all around school.

By the way, if you haven't sent your college student the Cameron Herald, get a subscription. That would be along later from home every week. And, if you Yoe High Exes have some big news, let us know—we like to keep up with you.

Quote: "The fellow who says he'll meet you halfway usually thinks he's standing on the dividing line."

Layton Slams Over To Put Badgers Over Cherokee, 38-33

By Alan Barkemeyer

Tailback Arthur Layton slammed over from the three yard-line on the final play of the game last Friday night as the Buckholts Badgers rallied to nip Cherokee's Indians, 38-33. Layton's game-winning touchdown was set up when quarterback Gordon Haisler hit David Zajcek on a 33-yard pass play with 15 seconds remaining.

Norman Haisler provided all the offensive explosives for the Badgers as he scored five touchdowns, passed for two extra points, rushed for 143 yards on 14 carries, and also caught four passes for an additional 86 yards.

Cherokee, now 1-1, scored quickly in the first period when Felipe Duarte skirted left end for 64 yards and a touchdown that put the Indians out front, 6-0. Buckholts came right back and drove 38 yards in 4 plays with Norman Haisler running the final 9 yards for the tying TD. Haisler's PAT pass to Richard Kudlacek was good and the Badgers were out front, 7-6. That was the extent of scoring until the opening moments of the third quarter, when Haisler scored from 3 yards out ending a 22-yard march that took 5 plays. Two minutes later the Badgers were on top, 20-6. On the first play following an on-side kick recovery, Gordon Haisler, who connected on 6 of 8 tosses for 113 yards, hit Norman with a 36-yard bomb, giving the Badgers a 14-point bulge.

But the Indians roared back to tie the game at 20-20 when 9.8 sprinter Charlie Gray raced 60 and 40 yards for scores, with Felipe Duarte's extra point kick being the tying margin. Haisler, however, shot the Badgers back on top, 32-20. Norman scooted 23 yards for one touchdown and 38 yards for the other, and with 3 minutes remaining, it looked like the Badgers had the game wrapped up.

But things got rather frantic in those final three minutes. Gray zipped a 29-yard touchdown pass to his brother Mike Gray, and following a successful point after pass, the Indians were only down by five points, 32-27, and with two minutes yet to play, Cherokee stopped a Badger drive and then marched downfield to score with 66 seconds remaining, taking a 33-32 lead. The PAT kick was blocked.

Now there was only a minute left for the Badgers to drive 52 yards to hit paydirt. Starting from their own 28, Buckholts moved to the Cherokee 38 on the running of Norman and Layton, and the passing of Gordon Haisler. Faced with a third and long yardage situation, Haisler unloaded a 3-yard strike to Zajcek at the 6. Norman hit the line for 3 yards, and with the clock running out, Layton bulled his way for the final 3 yards and a win for the Badgers.

Buckholts, now with a 1-1 record, travels to Trinidad Saturday night to meet the Trojans (1-1) in a homecoming clash. Game time is 8 p.m.

County Agent's Notes ....

New Oats Are Rust Resistant

By J. D. Moore

Florida 500 and Florida 501 are two varieties of oats announced by A&M agronomists that are somewhat resistant to leaf rust.

The Florida 500 was planted on Texas A&M plantation for grazing last fall with good results. The A&M farm manager is planting this variety again this fall.

According to R. J. Hodges, Extension agronomist at A&M, the Florida 501 is more rust resistant and more winter hardy than the Florida 500. It should be pointed out however that both of the varieties are recommended to be planted south of a line running through Temple east and west.

Florida 500 seed is available at McGregor Milling Co. and the Florida 501 is available at Jacob Harts Seed Co., Stuttgart, Arkansas.

drought and windstorms are a few of these variable factors. Seldom can one variety be recommended and planted with assurance of top yield every year. Equally true a variety which is not recommended may perform very well in one particular year.

Variety choices should be made in light of what can be expected most frequently, thus avoiding "boom or bust" management that can easily lead to financial reverses. Then too, temporary grazing crops are expensive. This is the more reason why every possible management practice should be studied.

It is safe moisture and heat wise to plant small grains the last of September and first of October. The earlier planted oats will have time to establish a better root system and furnish more grazing if properly fertilized and planted as early as possible.

MOISTURE &amp; COTTON SEED

Cotton growers are advised by Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist, to save next year's planting seed from afternoon harvested cotton. The reason—it's lower in moisture content and can be stored with fewer problems.

STOCK HEALTH CONFERENCE

The second annual Southwest Animal Health Conference for Livestockmen is scheduled for Jan. 30-31 in Dallas. Activities are scheduled for the Marriott Motor Hotel and the State Fair Grounds.

Low Quality Forages May Increase Grain Feeding Requirement

The use of low quality forages in the dairy ration increases the grain feeding requirements and may increase the dairyman's feed cost by as much as 30 percent or even more, says A. M. Meekma, Extension dairy specialist, Texas A&M University.

If the animal's nutritional needs are not met, production may drop so sharply that serious financial bind can develop, says Meekma. When low quality forages are used, more grain must be added to the ration to adequately supplement the dairy cow's nutritional needs. Forage quality is also important because it affects voluntary intake, emphasizes Meekma.

State of maturity at harvest is the most important factor affecting milk producing power of a forage, explains the specialist.

For example, he says, prebloom alfalfa may contain as much as 18 to 20 percent crude protein and 45 or more therms of estimated net energy per 100 pounds while, at full bloom, it may drop to 12 percent crude protein and 33 therms of estimated net energy per 100 pounds.

Therefore the dairy cow, which will normally consume twice as much of the prebloom alfalfa as alfalfa cut at the late stage of maturity, can consume three times the nutrients from forage.

Visual observation, date of cutting, and chemical analysis are all extremely helpful to the dairyman in determining the feeding worth of a forage. But the real test, he concludes, is whether the forage will be consumed by the dairy cow and will support a high level of milk production.

A &amp; M Scientists Seek Ways To Make Herbicides Stay Put

COLLEGE STATION

A team of Texas A&M University scientists is working to improve brush and weed control by trying to find ways of making herbicides stay where they are put.

The research is aimed at herbicide carriers, which are usually water or light petroleum oils such as kerosene or diesel fuel.

Dr. Morris G. Merkle of the A&M Soil and Crop Sciences Department, who is heading the study, says problems arise when carriers evaporate too soon or allow sunlight to break down the herbicide chemical before it can be completely effective, or drift into areas where susceptible crops are growing.

His co-workers are Dr. R. W. Bovey, Dr. R. E. Meyer and H. H. Haas of the Range Science Department, and L. F. Bouse and D. G. Haile of the Agricultural Engineering Department.

The overall project is financed by a $63,000 grant from the U. S. Department of Agriculture for a four-year period. Representing the USDA in the work is Dr. Dayton K. Klingman, Agricultural Research Service agronomist at Beltsville, Md.

A variety of substances is being tried in the carriers. There is a low volatile oil known as paraffin oil to cut down evaporation, and gelatin as a thickening agent to inhibit drift.

Then there is syrup to make the herbicide stick to leaves, and even ultraviolet light inhibitors used in sun tan lotions and other products to protect the chemical from sunlight. In one of the experiments, the researchers used glycerol to test stickability on yaupon leaves. Cut ants soon began to work on the brush. The scientists wondered why the insects had taken such a liking to the yaupon until they remembered that the syrupy stuff was a sweetish member of the alcohol family.

Poultry Industry Tells Problems To Ag Secretary

COLLEGE STATION

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin had an opportunity this week to take back to the White House the feelings of the Texas poultry industry during a "Listening Conference" here.

R. M. Taylor, president of the 400 member Texas Poultry Federation, addressed Secretary Hardin and other key members of the U. S. Department of Agriculture on the Texas A&M University campus.

Taylor is also vice-president of Halberts, Inc. in Nacogdoches, one of the largest broiler firms in Texas.

"We have found in Texas that egg and turkey producers are having a difficult time securing long-term financing for buildings and equipment. We understand there are approximately 40 government agencies that are lending money to various business enterprises, yet our industry is not able to utilize these agencies," Taylor said.

The Federation president also explained the problems Texas poultrymen have in obtaining equal freight rates with producers in the fast-growing poultry areas of the Southeastern states.

He pointed out that feed, which accounts for approximately 65 percent of production expense, costs the Texas producer more because of the freight rates on feed grains shipped by railroads.

"If we can obtain further reductions on feed grain freight rates and more long-term financing for buildings and equipment, the Texas poultry industry will grow. This growth will be a very reliable source of revenue for rural communities," President Taylor told the group.

Also attending the "listening conference" in College Station were members of the U. S. House of Representatives Committee on Agriculture, W. R. Poage, Texas, chairman.

New Cen-Tex Partners ...

Central Texas is getting more attention as industrial area even as Congressional agriculture leaders tour its farms, cotton gins and livestock centers.

As Cameron industrializes, the word is out that Central Texas is the "hottest" industrial development center in this part of the country. Why?

The answer is at the expense of agriculture.

The small farmer has all but finished his immigration to town or city, leaving land for the purchase of large farm units and corporate operations, who farm by automation.

The automation reduces farm worker demand, which is tough because of rising industrial worker need, but which nonetheless is incentive enough for new industry to develop and present industry to expand.

Land prices by comparison to city, Southwest or Eastern, are cheap, though high for agriculture. The air is clear, the roads good, including Texas' farm-to-market system, and space plentiful.

While Cong. Poage's committee sees agriculture's modern promise and problem, industry is moving into this once agriculture area, a partner in a complex of agri-business industry.

What Others Say ...

Gary's Loyal Firemen ...

When the firemen in Gary, Ind., went on strike recently, seven men put duty first and stayed on the job. Six of them have now told the Board of Public Works and Safety that they have been harassed and told they may be kicked out of the union with a consequent loss of benefits.

Given the bitterness of the Gary strike, including the blockade of equipment trying to save a burning lumber yard, it is hardly surprising that the men who opposed this flagrant dereliction of duty should now be the target of threats. If nothing else, they are doubtless a nag at the conscience of the men who deserted their posts.

But what interests us most is the response of the president of the firemen's union, James Anast. The union, he said, was not responsible. "If there is any harassment it was brought on by themselves and their actions."

How familiar. Here we have an echo of the oldest dodge known to man. The tyrant, aiming his guns at a neighbor, says he "won't be responsible" for what happens if the neighbor doesn't surrender. The robber wails that he really didn't mean to shoot his victim. It was his fault; he resisted. The trail goes clear back to Cain, and his question, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

Gary's government and its people ought to be thankful that seven firemen remained loyal while the rest turned against their city. Not only should the city protect them from harassment, it should make certain that what they have "brought on themselves" is the gratitude of their community.

BARNES FOR SENATE?

Is Lt. Gov. Pen Barnes, 31, about to become a candidate for the U.S. Senate against Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, 66?

Nobody can truthfully claim to know the answer to that, including Barnes himself, who says he has not yet made up his mind.

Yet, Governor Smith opened up new speculation on the subject during the recent Southern Governor's Conference at Williamsburg, Va.

Asked by reporters if he thinks Barnes could beat Yarborough, Smith said he believes that is possible—depending on the kind of races run by each, their financial resources and a lot of imponderables.

Smith didn't claim to know, but the fact he was willing to discuss the prospective race at all was an indicator of the widespread circulation of the Barnes-Yarborough contest rumor.

Smith also told newsmen he feels Yarborough is in the best political position he has enjoyed since he went to Washington more than a decade ago.

$5.8 Billion Budget Signed; Will Set All-Time Record

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Gov. Preston Smith has signed into law a $5.8 billion 1970-71 state budget. This was after vetoing $1.4 million in miscellaneous spending items. Yet the expenditure set an all-time record.

Earlier, Smith approved a new record $345.6 million tax bill which takes effect October 1. (In addition to state revenue, cities will get an estimated $6 million a year due to extension of the sales tax to beer and liquor. Sales tax rate goes up from 3 to 3.25 per cent.)

Smith also signed other acts of the special session, including legislation creating 23 new Texas district courts. He will name all judges to serve until the next general election. This may be the largest single amount of judicial patronage assigned a Texas governor at one time in state history.

Tax bill as passed by the Legislature provided plenty of revenue to fill the State's needs, but Smith said his vetoes are "justified for the sake of economy perhaps more than for anything else." Many of the items vetoed, he noted, were not part of the original House or Senate appropriations acts, and some were not even requested by agencies.

Smith will, he emphasized, take no hand in the Senate race no matter who the candidates are. APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED Major and minor appointments came thick and fast during the last week.

Veteran State Securities Commissioner William M. King resigned his post to enter private banking here, and his longtime deputy, Truman G. Holladay, was named to succeed him.

Former State Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo was selected executive director of Texas Water Rights Commission, succeeding Frank Booth who resigned to enter private law practice.

Sen. Criss Cole of Houston was sworn in as president pro tempore of the Texas Senate on September 22.

Smith named a nine member board of regents for East Texas State University. They include Houston H. Harter of San Antonio, Raymond Middleton Holliday of Houston, Joseph Zeppa of Tyler, William Garland Button of Dallas, Cam F. Dowell Jr. of Dallas, Joel Thomas Williams Jr. of Dallas, Leon Jackson Coler Jr. of Texarkana, Thomas Brazelton Stealy of Paris and Luther Preston Johnson of Lubbock.

Smith placed on the new State Board of Landscape Architects Robert Hall Green of Houston, Otto Erwin Scherz of San Angelo and Leonard Morrison Riggs of Longview.

He named Gerald Hicks Smith of Houston and James L. Lindsey of College Station to the State Finance Commission and reappointed Rex G. Baker Jr. of Houston to the Commission's banking section.

Buster Eugene French of Dayton was named to the board of directors of the Coastal Industrial Water Authority. Smith renamed Johnnie Glen Jennings of Baytown and Robert Clayton Lanier of Houston to same agency. Malcolm J. Henley of Lindale was placed on the Sabine River Authority board of directors and Charles T. Wickersham of Orange were reappointed to the Sabine Authority.

Bert E. Godfrey of Fort Worth, Davie James Lawson of Dallas and Gus S. Wortham of Houston were assigned by Smith to six-year terms on the board of regents of North Texas State Uni-

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I hadn't paid much attention to it, you let a man try to keep up with everything on earth and he'll wind up not knowing much of anything for sure, but according to a copy of The Dallas Morning News I picked up on the road near this farm yesterday in an effort to keep America beautiful, Israel and Egypt have been fighting off and on for the past couple of years, and this almost floored me.

Why it was only two or three years ago that Israel whipped Egypt in exactly six days. I remember reading about it and how all the world was excited over how fast Israel won and howhipped Egypt was and yet here they are fighting again.

You mean to say wars these days are like the pennant race in baseball or football? You start versity.

Smith selected Mrs. Elaine Byron Cominsky of Pasadena and Mrs. Helen Ruth Cox of Lubbock for the board of nurse examiners. He appointed Roy Lee Fowler of Austin to the board of barber examiners.

Dr. Stewart Wolf will head the marine biomedical institute at Galveston. Mrs. Marie Schulz has been named program director of the library systems act for the state library. Eleven new Texas Rangers were designated by the Department of Public Safety.

LEASE SALES SET

A total of 338 tracts of University of Texas lands (111,212 acres) in West Texas will be placed on lease auction, December 16, November 4, some 769 tracts totaling 496,371 acres will be offered in a school land sale.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler said 125 tracts of university land in Hudspeth County will be offered at bonuses of not less than $1,000 per half section and at annual lease rentals of $1.50 an acre. This was reduced from former requirements of $5,000 per quarter section and $2 per acre. Former requirements will govern other tract leases.

In school land sale, 37 tracts in El Paso County had acceptable bonus reduced to $5 an acre and annual rental to $2. Other upland and riverbed tracts will command a $20 per acre bonus and $5 per acre annual rental. Those lying under bays, inlets and Gulf of Mexico lands will go at $25 an acre and $5 per acre annual rental. Most of school land is in Gulf Coast submerged areas.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS WARNED

More than a dozen Texas school districts have drawn warning of deficiencies from the State Board of Education.

Crosby Independent School District lost its accreditation but can regain it when it meets state requirements.

Alpine received final warnings it may lose accreditation if conditions are not approved.

Also warned were Antelope, Bertram, Bridgeport, Calver, Hemp Hill, Masonic Home, Powitt, Rains, Elizario, Spur, Timpson and Little Elm.

State Board decided to permit 16-year-olds to enroll in adult basic education programs. New department of special education and special schools organization was approved.

over again every year? You beat us this year but just wait till next year?

Obviously what the world needs is a Commissioner of War, to set up some rules. Heretofore, when one country whipped another you could figure it'd be at least 20 years before the loser could field another team, but nowadays no country seems to know when it's whipped and nobody ever wins the crown and the world series of wars never comes to an end.

I don't believe it'll work. If nobody ever won the World Series in baseball, if the games dragged on into winter and then on into next year and the year after that, the fans, given no chance to whoop and holler, would gradually lose interest. Sooner or later somebody is supposed to win, squirt champagne around the locker room, take the trophy and go home for a while, but dragging the fight out forever sure gets monotonous. It puts a strain on the gate receipts.

In case Congress is looking for a High Commissioner of War to set up some rules and get some dependable won-lost statistics, I would like to say I'm not a candidate like to say I'm not a candidate. Yours faithfully, J.A.

Selective Service

Editor's note: Blow are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth Street, Austin, Texas 78791. He will welcome your questions.

Q—I am a graduate student who has not been deferred. If I am ordered to report for induction in the midst of my studies, can my induction be delayed until I get my degree?

A—No, but you may request your draft board for a postponement until the end of the quarter, semester, or semester. Boards have authority to grant such postponement.

Q—If I go into VISTA or the Peace Corps, can my local board give me an occupational deferment?

A—Yes, but it is not required to do so.

Q—Does the Selective Service System prosecute persons for violation of the Selective Service law?

A—No, this is done by the Department of Justice.

Q—I know that normal progress in school is necessary for a II-S student deferment. When I transferred from junior college to the state university some credits I had earned were not accepted. Will this loss of credits affect my classification?

A—Your draft board will have to decide this. It can grant II-S deferment to you for the first year after your transfer, despite the loss of credits. Further deferment would depend upon the progress made at the new institution.

A Closer Walk With God Will Lead You Right Straight to Church

REAPING

"And they took the fruit of the land in their hands and brought it down to us." Deut. 1:25. Isn't that just like God's children...

always ready to lend a helping hand, or to give an extra portion—all if necessary. When the crop is ripe, the reaping done and the bounties stored away, do you ever stop to thank God? Maybe your inventory still shows all you ever possessed. Better realize it all came from God and give back a portion. How is it right now with you and yours? It is reaping time but what will your harvest be? Do you support His cause, His church, or, are you one of the would-be self-sufficient? Why not begin right now to use your harvest to help bring in the Kingdom?

HD Agent Notes

By Christine Laws
Apparently the moon samples brought back to earth proved to be something other than green cheese.

Maybe it's just as well, though. Moon cheese might have had trouble competing with the texture and flavor of the many fine cheeses produced here on earth.

October's the month of the annual Fall Cheese Festival. This is a time for honoring the cheese industry by utilizing this nutritious food in meals and snacks.

What a tasty treat cheese served with apple wedges and sliced pears makes for afternoon nibbling or party treats. The USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports especially plentiful supplies of apples and pears on hand. Melted cheese also makes a tempting topping for a thick slice of apple pie.

We consumed an average of more than 10 1/2 pounds of cheese last year. Keep plenty on hand to make sure your family gets in on its share of good cheese eating.

As in preparing other protein foods, go easy on the heat when you cook cheese. That way it melts completely and spreads good cheese flavor through the whole dish. Cooked too quickly, it gets tough and stringy.

Breakfast, lunch or dinner tastes better with cheese. Try cooking cheese with scrambled eggs for breakfast. Just add grated cheese before the egg-and-milk mixture goes into the pan. Cook slowly so cheese melts as the eggs cook.

Or add grated cheese to your favorite omelet mixture before cooking. You can spread thin slices of cheese over the omelet after it has cooked, too, but just before you roll it to turn out on a hot platter.

Cheese Fondue
4 eggs, well beaten, 2 cups hot milk, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1/4 to 1/2 pound cheese, thinly sliced, 1 tablespoon fat, salt to taste.

Beat the eggs well. Mix the milk, bread crumbs, cheese, fat and salt. Stir this mixture into the beaten eggs. Pour into a well-greased shallow pan and bake in a moderate oven for about 25 minutes—or until set and slightly browned on top. Serve at once.

Cheese Souffle

1 1/2 cups milk, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon fat, 4 eggs, 1/2 pound cheese shaved thin, 1/4 teaspoon salt, Pepper to taste.

Heat the milk, bread crumbs and fat in a double boiler. For the crumbs, crumble up leftover pieces of bread and pack the measure well. Do not use fine, very dry crumbs. Add cheese to the hot mixture. Stir until the cheese has melted.

Add this mixture to the well-beaten egg yolks. Season. Fold hot mixture into the stiffly beaten egg whites containing the salt. Pour into a greased dish and bake in a moderate oven for one hour, or until set in the center.

Cheese Puff

8 slices bread, 1/2 pound cheese, grated, 3 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, Pepper, paprika, mustard, if desired, 2 cups milk.

Fit four bread slices into the bottom of a greased baking dish. Sprinkle with half the cheese, cover with remaining bread. Beat eggs, add milk and seasonings. Pour over the bread-and-cheese mixture and cover with the remaining cheese.

Set baking dish in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven for about 40 minutes, or until the custard is set and the bread is puffed up.

Tax Reform Bill 'Cruel Hoax' Says Texas Attorney General

AUSTIN
Texas homeowners, particularly those of modest means or small incomes, will be forced to pay higher city, school, county and state property taxes if legislation now being considered in Congress is enacted, Texas Attorney General Crawford Martin said this week.
A "Tax Reform Bill" which has passed the House and is now being considered by U. S. Senators is not "tax reform" at all, but a cruel hoax, to mislead the American people into believing the legislation will help the "little man," Martin said.
Provisions in the bill would remove the tax exempt status of municipal and state bonds.
This, Martin said, will result in higher interest rates and a shift of the additional cost to local taxpayers in the form of higher property taxes and increased costs for water, hospital rooms and college tuition fees and many other public services.
Martin said his office was well aware of the impact the removing of the tax exemption on municipal bonds will have on the public, since his office is charged with the responsibility of approving all bonds issued in the State.

"Last year, I approved one billion dollars in bonds," Martin said. "If the same amount of bonds is issued next year, and the proposed legislation is enacted, it will cost the citizens of Texas $450 million more interest during the life of the bonds. This will be the equivalent of a head tax of $45 for every man, woman and child in this State. This cost will recur year after year, and the figure increase as the State grows in population."
Martin noted that the mere threat of this adverse legislation has caused a substantial rise in interest rates on bonds that in recent weeks have come across his desk for approval.
The Attorney General termed the legislation "catastrophic," and said the tax - weary people of Texas cannot afford to pay 20 to 30 per cent more, and the corresponding increase in taxes, for desperately needed public improvements such as school houses, water and sewer systems and hospitals.

Martin has filed a formal statement of opposition with the U. S. Senate Finance Committee which is now considering the legislation.

Mental Health

Can former patients hold jobs? The answer to this question should be a resounding, "Yes!" Strong evidence shows that former mental patients not only are employable, but also make better than average workers.
Employers and communities that take in an individual who has suffered from mental illness aren't "taking a big chance." Far and away the odds are that the person will do well.

This has long been proved. But now and then incidents occur which indicate that the 20th Century hasn't yet arrived everywhere. They point up the fact that everyone, and certainly every employer, should learn the real facts about mental illness.

Just outside our Nation's Capital two employees resigned from their jobs. They had suffered attacks of mental illness previously in their lives.

Witch hunts were carried on in the Dark Ages. Then, mentally ill were systematically hunted down and persecuted.

These practices are thought to have ended long ago. The two employees who lost their jobs would have difficulty in believing this.

The witch hunt in their case was the physical examination required of employees.

TO SETTLE ESTATE

Approximately 38 acre farm

In Buckholts - Corinth area.—One of the very few places on the market. The land is fenced and cross-fenced, has a large tank with a good pump. A four year old hollow tile house with vinyl floors, aluminum screens, and automatic vented wall heaters. A new butane tank. Adjoining the house is an old log cabin with fireplace-barns, corral and pens. This farm could be made into a real showplace. Very picturesque. Good dove hunting, and the tank is loaded with fish. (Pulled out a four pound bass last week).
